Why Everyone Should Make Summer Reading a Top Priority

Without addressing what happens over the summer months, it's impossible to close the achievement gap.

No matter how much high-quality learning takes place over the school year, many children will fall behind during the summer unless they are given the attention and resources they will need to continue learning during these pivotal months.

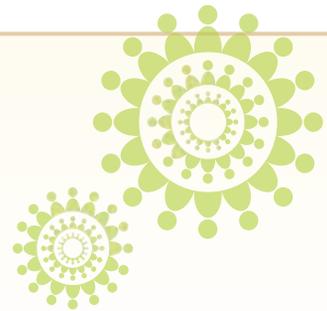

Having access to books and other educational resources during the summer months reinforces good learning habits and is critical to maintaining a child's achievement level. Children who lack the opportunity to read, write, and discuss books will continue to fall behind every summer, eventually making the gap too great to close.

During the school year, lower-income children's skills improve at close to the same rate as their more advantaged peers—but over the summer, middle- and upper-income children's skills continue to improve, while lower-income children's skills do not. (Alexander, 2007)

Summer Reading Take-Home Program

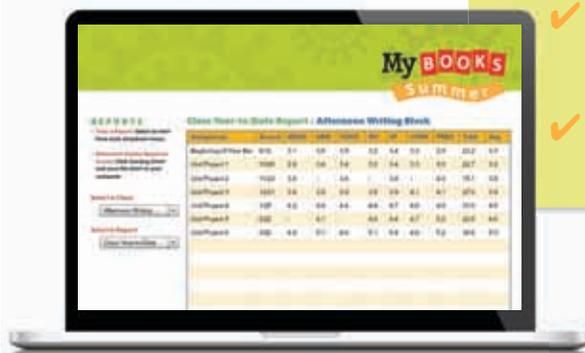

Tracking student participation just got a whole lot easier and fun! Students can log on to the Scholastic TrackIt website to record the minutes they've spent reading, allowing you to monitor the success of the program and encourage students to keep reading throughout the summer.

Scholastic TrackIt Features:

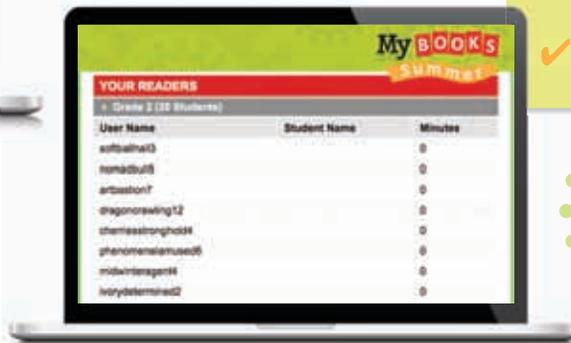

- ✓ Resources for parents, administrators, and students
- ✓ Customized homepage with local messaging

- ✓ Students showcase their efforts by entering all books and minutes read
- ✓ Blogs and message boards for students to discuss books

- ✓ View reports of student data:
 - independent reading minutes
 - number of titles read
- ✓ View data by student, class, school, and district
- ✓ Print and export data

Please allow sufficient time for our specialists to set-up your TrackIt account. Call (800) 387-1437 or consult your local representative for more information.

Create a Summer Reading Program that Meets Your Organization's Needs

My Books Summer offers various customization options* to help you meet the unique requirements of your school, district, program, or community.

Letters from Administrators to Families and Communities

Let your families and community know how valuable summer reading is to student success, and what your organization is doing to help this effort. Scholastic will partner with you to publish a personal message to include in every student's book pack.

Custom Book Selection

Whether your organization is focused on specific reading levels (DRA, Lexile, or GRL) or has a STEM, Fine Arts, or Career Exploration focus, Scholastic can help you build custom book packs. You choose the parameters, and one of our Scholastic Specialists will work with you to create book packs that meet your needs. A minimum of 90 days is required to fulfill custom book selection orders.

Custom Packaging

Whether it's book bags, back packs, or other special packaging with your school or organization's logo, Scholastic can source and manufacture the packaging you desire. Our Scholastic Specialists will work with you to help you determine the best practical solutions to meet your needs.

*Based on a minimum of 2,500 students served. Ninety-day minimum turnaround required. Additional cost may be incurred. Talk to your Scholastic Representative for details, or call 800-387-1437 ext. 411.

NEW! Student Choice—Online

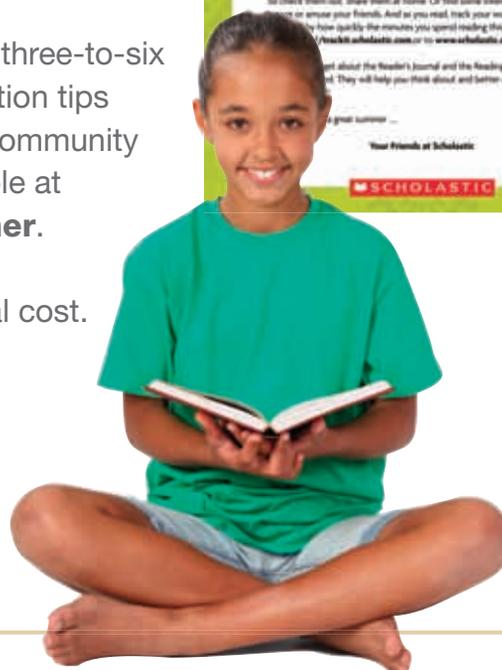

Students can choose from more than 300 age- and reading level-appropriate titles, including a wide range of fiction, nonfiction, and STEM-aligned titles. Then teachers help students enter their selections online. Once the selections have been entered, teachers can compile all the orders and submit them to a school or district coordinator.

Each pack will be delivered individually wrapped and labeled with the student/teacher/school name for easy distribution. Student journals and online tracking and engagement tools are available at an additional cost.

NEW! Student Choice—Onsite

Host a book distribution event where students can browse and choose from more than 300 age- and reading level-appropriate titles. Your summer reading program coordinator can choose which books will be shipped to the event from a preselected list, or older students can choose the books for themselves.

Aligned to effective summer reading research, three-to-six books are recommended per student. Distribution tips and resources such as event themes, parent/community invitations, and reproducible letters are available at www.scholastic.com/face/mybookssummer. Student journals and online tracking and engagement tools are available at an additional cost.

BRINGING LITERACY HOME

THE FACE LITERACY INITIATIVE

Students do their best in class when they have support outside of class. Scholastic FACE—Family and Community Engagement—is committed to helping every caring adult provide effective and sustainable literacy support for all children, whether in school, in the community, or in the home. FACE utilizes Scholastic’s 91-year history of educational innovation to provide a complete range of resources that enable effective literacy support for students of all backgrounds.

Q What is the FACE Literacy Initiative?

The FACE Literacy Initiative is the most important family and community campaign in Scholastic’s 91-year history.

Q Is out-of-school support really that important?

Research shows that children achieve superior outcomes in school and in life when they receive literacy support outside of the classroom. This support consistently results in higher graduation rates, increased future earning potential, and improved quality of life.

Q How will Scholastic support this initiative?

As part of this unprecedented program, Scholastic will discount all books purchased for student ownership through the FACE Literacy Initiative by 55–80% and ship them for free. This is our commitment to helping you improve your students’ academic performance and keep them on track for college and career success.

Scholastic FACE also offers research-based initiatives to support student literacy, including:

- Read and Rise Family Literacy Workshops
- Board Books with Family Reading Tips
- REAL Community Mentoring Program
- BrainStorm High School Service Learning Program
- Summer Reading Programs
- Expanded Learning Solutions

Q How do I qualify for subsidized books and resources?

Any organization can qualify to participate in this initiative and receive Scholastic discounts, so long as it is purchasing books with the sole purpose of distributing them for free to children for use in their homes. This is Scholastic’s way of helping to increase access to books for all children.

Q What should I do next?

Join FACE and qualify for discounts by applying online or filling out the application below. Partnering with Scholastic will increase students’ access to research-based resources at home and in the community.

The Scholastic Summer Challenge is a global campaign dedicated to stopping the “summer slide,” getting kids to read more books, and championing parent and teacher involvement to help motivate kids to read.

For the summer of 2013, Scholastic is challenging kids to Read for the World Record and keep reading and learning all summer long. The Scholastic Summer Challenge, which launches on May 1, is a global summer reading program with a robust online community for kids, parents, librarians, and educators—and it’s all FREE.

In addition to logging minutes read for the Scholastic World Record, kids can:

- ✓ engage in fun activities related to books and reading
- ✓ track their minutes all summer on the virtual reading map
- ✓ earn virtual rewards by meeting weekly reading goals
- ✓ chat with fellow readers on the message boards
- ✓ participate in fun sweepstakes!

In 2012, Scholastic inspired more than 190,000 kids from 4,400 schools in 32 countries to set a new record for summer reading—more than 95 million minutes!

Log on this spring to join the challenge and the fun!
